General accreditation rules of the LOTTO Thuringia Ladies Tour

Media accreditation can be obtained by:

Persons from Germany or abroad who can prove their journalistic (including photojournalistic) activity (related to the topic of international and national sport, cycling, sporting events or local press) as follows:

- by submitting named articles that are no older than six months at the time of the event,
- by submitting an imprint in which they are named as editors, permanent editorial staff or authors and which is no older than three months at the time of the event,
- by submitting a written order from a full editorial team in the original with reference to the current trade fair,
- via a web link to an online publication that is established in the industry community and has a reasonable reach.
- Holders of a valid press card from a domestic or foreign journalists' association.

We would like to point out that the presentation of a press card is usually not the sole basis for accreditation. The organizer reserves the right to request further proof of the journalistic activity in accordance with the points.

The legitimation should be submitted in German or English. In individual cases, the organizer reserves the right to additionally request the presentation of a valid personal document with photo. There is no right to accreditation.

Press accreditation

The following groups of people are not accredited:

- Persons without journalistic legitimation, e.g. B. customer advisors, sales managers, advertising managers or webmasters, PR consultants and private companions
- Germans residing in Germany who present a foreign press card
- People who submit a written assignment from a freelance journalist
- People who are only privately active in social networks

In order to be able to guarantee the best possible working conditions for all press employees, only professional journalists, editors, reporters, commentators and photographers are accredited. Therefore, please note the relevant evidence of your journalistic activity.
